Russians Hot in Pursuit Of Retreating Enemy, Push Toward Lemberg Schedule Of Railways To Become

One Wing Brusiloff's Army Making For Galician Capital—Another Westward To Line Of Dniester—In Fighting Between Sunday And Tuesday Have Captured 10,000 Prisoners And 80 Guns—Hard Fighting Between British And Germans Along Yser—Enemy Repulsed At Arras And Lens.

LONDON, July 11.—Having broken the Austro-German line in the vicinity of Halicz, the Russians are pushing forward from Halicz toward Lemberg, the capital of Galicia, and from Stanislau, south of Halicz, westward toward the line of the Dniester. After the capture of Halicz, on the front from Halicz to Zolotvin, about 30 miles to the south, General Korniloff forced the Austro-Germans to continue their retreat. In the advance from Halicz the Russians forced the fleeing enemy across the Lomnica and occupied two towns on the western bank of the river. The next natural barrier is the River Stoka, about six miles west of the Lomnica.

Stoka, about six miles west of the Lomnica.

Capture 10,000 Prisoners.

South and west of Stanislau the Russians have reached the Posiecz-Lesiuyka-Karmacz line, the central point of which, Lesiuvka, is four miles west of the River Bystritza.

This line is about seven miles east of Kalusz, the nearest town west of Stanislau, and which is situated in a bend of the Stoka river.

The extension of the Russian fighting line to Zolotvin brings the battle-sround into the foothilis of the Carpathians.

In the fighting between Sunday and Tuesday in the direction of Dolina the Russians took more than 10,000 prisoners and eighty guns.

On the Belgian coast, near Dunkirk, the British and Germans are fighting again along the Yser, the scene of many hard fought battles. By destroying the bridges across the Yser between Nieuport and the North Sea coast, the Germans were able to advance and occupy the isolated section. Farther inland near Lombaertzyde, the Germans did not have as much success. After gaining some advanced positions the British threw the attackers back to their own lines by a counter attack. Whether the German effort is another attempt to reach Dunkirk or Calais, or is merely a stroke to offset a probable British offensive movement has not developed yest. The latest British official statement does not mention additional infantry fighting on this sector, and says that the German artillery fire has diminished in intensity. German attempts southeast of Arras and in the vicinity of Lens on Wednesday were without success.

Violent artillery fighting marked Wednesday on the Aisne and Champagne fronts in France and east of the Meuse in the Verdun region, Northwest of Selo, on the Carso, the Italians have occupied the Austrian town of Dolina.

HEAVIEST RAIN IN TWO YEARS

Precipitation .84 In Hour And Half-Hottest Day Of Year

The heaviest rainfall in two years was recorded at the local meteorological station during the thunderstorm yesterday afternoon. In an hour and a half .34 inches of rain fell, which is a pretty coplous precipitation for so short a time. The last time that Edmonton experienced such a deluge was in July, 1915, also during the fair, when an extremely hot day, when the thermometer registered over 80 in the shade for several hours, ended with a furious thunderstorm. Yesterday at noon the temperature touched 80 degrees, which is the hottest for the year so far. However it soon dropped, and at 5:30 p. m. was down to 60 degrees.

Early this morning another series of thunderstorms, accompanied by heavy showers, passed over the city, but the stars were soon shining brighting again and the indications were that continued good weather would be in order for the fair.

The Big Event Auto Parade

Tomorrow is the "Big Day," 'at the Exhibiton. The feature of special interest in connection with the Fair will be the great automobile parade in which a large number of spleadidy decorated cars will participate. The parade will form at the corner of Ninth and Jasper at one o'clock and will include not only private cars, but those representing industries and businesses as well. It is expected that it will be the greatest showing of decorated and industrial floats ever seen in Edmonton. It is the intention of the Automobile club promoting the parade that not only those who are members shall participate but anyone owning a car or conducting business is welcome to enter the parade. Those driving decorated cars or floats will be admitted free into the Exhibiton grounds.

COMMENTS ON EXCELLENCE OF SHEEP SHOW

George B. Armstrong, Teeswater, Ont., Who Adjudicated-Points

The general excellence of the sheep exhibits at the exhibition was remarked by Geo. B. Armstrong, of Teeswater, Ont., who concluded the judging of the sheep on Wednesday night. He would, assever, he said, have been more pleased to have seen greater uniformity of quality and he would also like to see more attention paid by the breeders to the preparation of the animals for the show ring. It was his first visit to Edmonton and he was struck with the prosperity of the city, and the progressive agricultural development of the surrounding communities, as evidenced by the exhibits he had seen at the fair.

The Oxxford, Suffolk and Cotswold were particularly fine classes and the exhibit of Lefcesters was also quite a feature. The grade sheep were well represented and the quality was exceptionally good, reflecting great credit on the exhibitors.

Director Kenwood, who has been connected with the Edmonton exhibition for the last fifteen years, and has a life's experience with sheep, commented on the marked improvement in the showing of the sheep and said that compared with fifteer years ago, the present status of the sheep industry in Alberta is an astounding achievement.

that compared with lifteer years ago, the present status of the sheep industry in Alberta is an astounding achievement.

No doubt that the castern sheepmen should be welcomed at the fair, because their exhibits have an educational value not only in regard to the quality of the breeding, but also in regard to the paying of more attention by the sheepmen of Alberta to the care, handling, feeding and breeding of their flocks to develop results equal or better than that attained by the eastern sheepmen.

The exhibit last year was of high merit, but was eclipsed by that, of this year not only in the excellence of the exhibit, but also in the general interest shown by exhibitors and speciators in the sheep department.

The future is very bright and it is fully expected that in the years to come the sheep exhibits at Edmonton exhibition will continue to grow in popularity. The sheep business is on a sound basis, with the present high prices for wool and mutton, and the valuable service sheep do in eradicating weeds and willows is recognized.

The weather man made a little miscalculation in arranging things for the Exhibition yesterday afternoon and pulled the lever marked "rain" instead of that inscribed "sunshine." It was only a short lapse, however, for, realizing what had been done, he soon shifted the clouds, shut off the downpour and ended the afternoon with as clear and lovely an evening as the lost fastidious could have desired, winding up with a simply gorgeous sunset which, if it could have been exhibited in its entirety in the art gallery would have put the Ferris wheel and the merry-go-round out of business, and that would have been some contract.

A midsummer thundershower, which deluged the fairgrounds and all that was therein shortly after 2 o'clock, brought the activities of the big show to a general but only a temporary stop. For two hours the heaviest rainfall which the city has experienced for two years descended upon the just and the unjust alike, stopping the races and the attractions, putting an effectual damper on the horse judging in the outside ring chasing even the hardy veterans of the trenches to their dug-outs and other sheiters; postponing Miss Stinson's aeroplane flight; emptying the whirligigs and carrousels on the Midway and forcing the showmen to hastily cover up their enterprises, and driving the thousands of visitors who thronged the grounds to seek shelter in the grandstand, in tents, in stables, in the pavilions and wherever a refuge was to be found from the young Niagara that cascaded from the heavens.

Miniature Venice

Wet? Well, rather! In a trice the tented city was a miniature edition of Venice. Everything was affoat. The water in places stood inches deep in the thoroughfares and inside the tents. The race track was a river and every exposed area a morass.

But who minded a little thing like that? Certainly not the jolly crowds that thronged the fair yesterday. Never did some 18,000 people accept a similar situation with more cheerful philosophy. To have looked upon them you would have supposed that the downpour was just abother of the series of stunts arranged for making the day more interesting. Women who had come early in the day traipsed through it all with their white boots soaked and their best hats reduced to ruin and refused to exhibit any external signs of sorrow. Men, whose gay summer suits clung to them like bathing dresses, and whose newly purchased "straws" curled up in strange shapes on their heads, grinned as though it weze a daily experience. Even the children voted the whole thing a tremendous joke and well worth the price of admission.

By and by, when the clouds rolled away and the fair proceeded with unabated energy, the victions wrung the moisture from their soaked garments and either went home for a change or proceeded to enjoy themselves as though nothing had happened, while the later arrivals, the great majority, who had been protected by raincoats and umbrellas, sallied out once more and had the time of their lives.

A Red Letter Day

"Citizens' day" was a red letter day in the history of the exhibition. Rain or no rain, the attendance was one of the biggest, if not the very biggest, in the history of the fair. If there had been no thunderstorm, whose warning clouds were piling up in the afternoon and warning the super-prudent to stay at home, it is difficult to imagine where they all could have been stowed. The exhibition appeared to be full to the very top as it was.

The official statistics showed that there were 13,169 paid admissions yesterday, as against 11,308 on the corresponding days a year ago. In addition there were 3,591 statistical tickets presented and at least 1,500 children under 12, who were admitted free on citizens' day, also passed the

admissions to the grandstand to 3.-682, as against 6,132 a year ago. This had the effect of knocking off some $700 or $800 from the total cash receipts from attendance for the day. Yesterday's total of money taken in was $8,001, while for the corresponding day of 1916 $8,020 was received. So 1916 is to the good in this respect, but by the narrowest of margins.

The hoodoo which has trailed Miss Katherine Stinson was given a decisive knockout yesterday, for the intrepid little aviator made two rattling good flights, one at 6 o'clock and the other at 9 o'clock. The rain drove the mechanics to cover along with everyone else, otherwise Miss Stinson would have gone aloft at her scheduled time of 4 o'clock. Every man, woman and child of the 18,000 visitors was gathered around the oval when the airship was trundled over to the cast end for the first flight. The aviator, clad in the familiar flying packet and cap, took her seat. The propeller was whirfed a few times. At last the familiar drone of the engine Tose. The propeller bades melled in a misy blur and the machine. Sathering way as it sped over the turf, rose in a long curve and soared triumphantly over the surrounding buildings. It seemed to sail a bit unsteadly for a moment, and 18,000 hearts were in 18,000 throats. But Miss Stinson was in full control of her wayward steed this time, and, rising to a height of several hundred feet, she circled several times over the grounds in splendid style, making a perfect landing after being up for about ten minutes.

The Evening flight was more ambi-

The Evening flight was more ambitious. Against the crimson sunsers sky the airwoman wheeled and banked like some gigantic bird, describing circles and loops with all her old freedom and certitude. A stream of smoke from the signalling apparatus trailed in a long plume in the aeroplane's wake, once or twice describing a letter "S" overhead. Passing over the soidlers' trenches Miss Stinson dropped a mimic bomb. It did not fall into the trenches but it was pretty close and in actual warfare would have been a very uncomfortable visitant. At both flights today she will drop two bombs into the trenches and bigger ones into the bargain.

Another perfect landing crowned the effort and Miss Stinson, with her Mary Pickford curls and her own smile, was applauded to the echo when she was presented to the spectators from the platform.

Fun in the Grandstand

During the height of the storm the grandstand was a hive of humanity who for two hours sat and watched the pelting downpour and amused themselves as best they might while waiting for the skies to clear. They watched the racers struggle through the bespattering mud and derived much comfort from the spectacle of the judges and other officials wading mid-leg deep through the miniature lake that appeared in front of the track gate. The sheets of water pouring from the eaves forced the occupants of the front seats to retreat to the rear, but, for the most part, the occupants of the stand were well protected.

Of course it was impossible to go on with the vaudeville features of the program while the storn lasted, but there was plenty of entertainment. The Galloway male quartette volunteered its services and its fine singing was encored again and again. Miss Winnifred Evans, of Toronto, a Canadian girl singing Canadian songs, algained great applause when she rendered such favorites as "When Your Boy Comes Back to You," "Here's to the Flag," "I want to Kiss Daddy Good Bye." In her nurse's uniform Miss Evans looked very capityating. One or two men from the "Rube'show in the Were 10 o'clock another good show was given.

The executive of the Invalid Soldiers' Welfare League, Sergt, Major Webster, Pte. Jeans, Corp. Page and Capt. Ogilvy-Wills, are hopeful yet of making a little money. Every visitor to the sar should make a mental note not to miss the soldiers.

The evening attractions were given as usual. An exciting incident was the falling of one of the mounted police constables and his horse, due to slipping in the mud during the charge. Neither man or horse was hurt, however.

Live Stock Parade Day
Today is "livestock parade day' and the great event of the afternoon will be the parade, at 3 o'clock, of the prize winners in the cattle classes. It will be a fine spectacle and a revelation of what the show is doing for the livestock industry,

Their Horseshoe brand of saddlery has achieved a reputation for long service and reliability. Another ever-growing department is the manufacture of gloves and mitts, while there is always a big deability. Another ment is the manufacture of gloves and matts, while there is always a big demand for their Fish brand of water-mand for their Fish brand of water proof. This includes jackets and pants and slickers, in both black and yellow oil pack. The Great West Saddlery are the western distributors for the Langmuir well-known Elephant brand of

DOUGLAS CO. PRINTING AND PUB-LISHING—GRAMAPHONES.

A gramophone made entirely by an Edmonton man is the central object of the Douglas Co. stand, and it has attracted a lot of attention not only on account of its handsome appearance but also because of the excellence of the music, which after all, is the main object.

but also because of the excellence of the musle, which after all, is the main object.

The fact of the machine being made by an Edmenton man does not mean that gramophones are going to be constructed right away in the city but it means that such an event is not impossible or even improbable.

The maker is A. G. Snsith, who is an employee of the Douglas Co., and having a bent towards mechanics he made the gramophone in his spare time, thus developing a hobby which may become a very profitable one.

The machine is enclosed in an oak cabinet and is complete in every respect. Before being brought to the exhibition it has been an object of interest to many of Edmonton's prominent citizens to whom it was a matter of surprise that such a machine could have been made in the city.

On the stand is also the famous Victor Victrolia, of which the Douglas Co, has such a large sale.

An embossing machine forms another object of interest and the person who wants any stationery embossed can see how the operation is carried out. Embossing is not dear, and probably there are many who would have their stationery embossed with intials or address if they knew that the work could be done so quickly and cheaply.

Specimens of the Douglas binders work could be done so quickly and cheaply.

Specimens of the Douglas binders and popular loose-leaf systems can also be seen, and any information as to the work obtained.

A big display is to be seen at the stand of the Northern Hardware Company, and two prominent lines are the popular Evinrude row-boat motor and the anti-friction carburator for motorthe anti-friction carburator for moto-cars.

There is very little need to dilate upon the advantages of the Evinrude row-boat motor, as it already is so widely known and has proved its worth and efficiency to those who seek their pleasure on the water. And not only for pleasure alone has it earned its reputation, but on many a long river trip this handy little motor earned its reputation, but on many a long river trip this handy little motor has saved the traveller much hard work and probably no little vexation of spirit. The Evinrude is economical in use, it is reasonable in price, costing from $114 to $124, it can be worked either outboard or inboard, and is easily and quickly attached or detached. The Evinrude shown at the stand has an automatic reverse, which is a new and pleasing feature. By the use of the anti-friction carburator it is claimed that the running expense of automobiles is cut in half, and it only costs $20 to have one of these fitted to a Ford car. The Northern Hardware have the exclusive agency for Alberta for the sale of this carburator.

thera Hardware have the exclusive agency for Alberta for the sale of this carburator.

Among other good things which the firm have to show is the famous McClary range. The prices of these go from $35 to $75 and their reliability and convenience is a household word.

A big stock of automobile supplies is carried, and the firm does not specialize in one particular make of tire. All the good ones are kept, including such well-known tires as the Goodyear, Dunlop, and Dominion.

The Sharples Separator, one of the heat and handlest machines of the kind, is sold by the Northern Hardware Company. The price runs from $60 to $110, and, considering the finish of the machine and its superior qualities, it is said that nothing more economical can be secured. One special point claimed for the Sharples separator is its uniformity of skimming at varying speeds. A recent test showed that at 40,50 and 60 handle revolutions per minute the percentage of cream secured was 31, the skim milk test showing no trace of butter-fat remaining in either case, thus denoting a clean skim no matter what the speed. The Sharples separator is made in Toronto.

In the way of baskets and wall decoration by means of vasse, Mr. Ramsay is making a special feature of showing what can be done with easily raised garden flowers. Three flowers in particular lend themselves to the work, the pyrethium, the godetia and the salpiglossis all three long-stemmed, bright colored flowers which are peculiarly suitable for display.

One point of great interest at the stand is the model cottage which has been constructed with laid-out garden and walks and water fountain, which makes a wonderfully attractive exhibit. Mr. Ramsay has done a bad turn for the parents in having this model, because all the kiddles will be bothering their parents for such a cottage as a play-house.

THE BLOWEY-HENRY CO.

THE BLOWEY-HENRY CO.

Household Furnishings.

Those wishing to make changes in the interior decoration of their home, or about to furnish a house, should visit the stand of the Blowey-Henry Co. in the Manufacturers' Hall. Here a suite of four rooms, furnighed completely, give all the inspiration needed. The designs are all pleasing and restful. nothing bizarre, but worked out in harmony and maintaining the reputation of the firm as artistic homemakers.

A suite of Queen Anne design in English brown mahogany gives a delightful tone to the dining-room, and this is accompanied with brown tapestry wall decoration and window hangings of rose veivet, with lace applique, the tloor being covered with a Turphoff Persian rug. The price of the whole is $1,000.

Heavily cushioned furniture of the cosy pattern is found in the living room, which, as becomes such an apartment, is light, bright and cheerful in design. The walls are covered with tussore silk, and the window curtains of shadow cloth, the whole forming a very pleasing interior. A harmonious, Kermanshaw rug covers the floor. This room costs $800 to furnish complete, as shown.

Black walnut furniture of antique type is seen in the den and none who care for the old-fashioned stric could desire anything more agreeable to the eye. The furniture is substantial without being cumbersome, and the quaint high-backed chairs are quite in keeping with the general design. The walls are covered with Sanitas hangings, which is so easily cleaned, and the windows hung with shadow cloth. The cost of this room, with a Kermanshaw rug, is only $600.

The bedroom is furnished in black walnut of a lighter shade, and as a whole is a very charming apartment. The bedstead is of walnut of attractive design, and the ladies are sure to be attracted by the vanity stand with its wing glasses, so convenient for their use. Grey silk covers the walls and the window hangings are of roose tenton, furnished in substantial oak.

The bedroom is furnished in black wainut of a lighter shade covers the floor. The price of the furnishing of the bedroo

JEWELRY AND CHINA.

JEWELRY AND CHINA.

A mantel clock, 200 years of age, is one of the features of attraction at the stand of Jackson Brothers, the well-known Edmonton Jewelers and silversmiths, at the Manufacturers' Hall. This stand, as in previous years, is one of the bright spots in the hall, and the charming display never fails to attract the notice of visitors.

The clock stards in the centre of the counter and is enclosed in a glass case, the works being gilt. It bears the name of the maker, "John Hall, 56 King street, Manchester," and is in excellent condition. The striker is in the form of a small axe, which when denoting the time, hits a bell mounted at the top of the clock. Two hundred years of age! What events the old clock must have witnessed in its career.

Turning to the other features of interest in the display, there is a very beautiful silver tea service, comprising six pieces and a tray. This is all hand-engraved and would make a superb gift. The price is $500. Then there are two very dainty china vases, designed from chinaware formerly in the palace of the Tullerles at Paris. These are two delightful specimens of the potter's art, and should please any lover of china. In addition, there can be seen some very handsome pieces of Crown Derby, Pleard handpainted and Morecroft china.

The Waltham combination wrist watch is a speciality among the many desirable objects of gold, sliver and platinum to be found on view. This watch is an extremely useful article and should appeal to all those contemplating such a purchuse. Then there are some very brantiful camees, made up both as pendants and brooches, all of pleasing design.

Cups and shields for presentation and trophies must not be overlooked, as the firm makes a particular hist for patronage in this direction. These can be supplied at short notice and of attractive designs, while the price is not unreasonable.

The stand is in the capable charge of A. C. Macauley, who invites the inspection of visitors to the goods displayed.

LA FLECHE BROS.

High Grade Clothing.

One of the most attractive stands is that of La Fleche Brog, the well-known tailors. Considering that rolls of cloth are rather unpromising material to deal with so far as an artistic display is concerned, the appearance of the stand is a revelation.

When inspecting the goods shown the visitor may take heed of the fact that some of the suitings are now practically unattainable. La Fleche Bros. secure the majority of their cloth from the best English manufacturers, and since the war the supply has been growing less and less and until in some cases it has almost ceased.

However, La Fleche have a good

However, La Fieche have a good stock in hand and here it may be seen. There is nothing inferior on the stand. Every kind of wool fabric is on view, the sort that make the best and most lasting suits. There are Quaker Oats is a kind of household article, known everywhere. Quaker Flour is something more or less new, more particularly to Edmonton, but it has already achieved a reputation wherever used.

It is now sold by all the dealers and storekeepers, and the local representative of the firm, T. Phillips, says that the gains in Edmonton have been something like 500 per cent for the year.

At the Quaker Flour stand in the Manufacturers' hall can be seen all

At the Quaker Flour stand in the Manufacturers' hall can be seen all the products of this firm, whose operations are world-wide. Quaker Oats. Quaker Corn Flakes, Puffed Rice, and Corn Meal, all good things of their kind, and then Quaker Flour, these samples are displayed in a strikingly tasteful manner.

A visit to the stand is invested with more than ordinary interest, because some person is going to have the opportunity to make a good trial of Quaker Flour. There is a big sack filled with flour and the person who guesses the correct weight of flour in the bag is going to become its possessor. Here is another chance to reduce the cost of living! The sack is a big one and the flour will list quite a while. The result of the guesses will be published in the Bulletin on Saturday evening.

The mills of the Quaker Oat company are located at Saskatoon. At the present time 2 large mill is being built for the manufacture of Puffed Wheat and Rice at Saskatoon. But their mills are everywhere! In the country where wheat and cats are grown, there can be found a Quaker Oat mill.

CAMPBELL & OTTEWELL "White Rose Flour"

Another old Edmonton firm is that of Campbell & Ottewell, millers. This business was at Ross Flats, near the river some twenty years ago. The same year there was a severe flood of the Saskatchewan river. This was inauspicious, but since that date there has been a second and more severe flood of the river, each having little effect on the progress of the business. Annually the White Rose, Peacemaker and Lion brands of flour are being produced in increasing quantimaker and Lion brands of flour are being produced in increasing quanti-ties, and at the present time the ma-chinery at the mill is being enlarged and improved. At the Manufacturers' Hall there is an attractive display of the products of this firm, together with specimens of home cooking, showing the dainty character of the eatables that can be manufactured from this flour.

eatables that can be manufactured from this flour.

In addition to the great quantity of the three brands of flour sold locally, the firm say that their outside trade is very large and rapidly increasing. Shipments go south as far as Calgary, while the Arctic is the northern limit for their flour to be sent.

Farmers vary, like the crops they grow. There is the make-shift indifferent man, the man who pays dear for his implements and his seed, because he is always putting off things, muddling along with the old wornout tools until something happens. The he has to get out in a hurry and buy in the dearest market because he has no time to look around and make a choice. The same conditions apply to this man's home. He fails to look after his wife and buy her those laborsaving devices which go to make life happy on the farm. There are mo modern conveniences in the house, as can be obtained today, and which make existence in the country no whit inferior to life in the city. On the other hand there is the thoughtful, economical, business, upto-date farmer. This is the man who is always looking to where he can save his money by getting the best of value in machinery and stock for the farm at the lowest cost. There is no hurry or haphasard work in this man's purchasing. He compares prices, make inquiries, sees samples, and when he finds that best price and quality are right he makes his purchasse. New methods appeal to this man; if he can prove to himself that it is going to be cheaper to discard his old machinery for a newer pattern, then he does it, and incidentally saves money. He buys an engine to run his machinery, for the same reason

Edmonton Shows Up Weil.

The City of Edmonton is showing up splendidly, although in my report last month it was stated that over 500 subscribers were in arrears. There is a decrease in contributions direct to the head office. This is probably accounted for by the fact that we are receiving more money locally this year from the employees of the railway curporations. This money was formerly collected through the head offices of those corporations and sent to Ottawa, where North Alberta was credited with the amounts raised with the tyrisdiction of this branch. The greatest falling off concerns the rural in the jurisdiction of this branch. The greatest falling off concerns the rural constituencies, up to the end of June the rural constituencies have contributed $75,000, or just half of the amount allotted to the several ridings. Edson is the first constituency to raise its allotted amount. The greatest praise is due to the people of that riding for their generosity, patriotism and public spirit. Most of the money comes from the mining camps and I desire to mention the miners particularly among the workers of the province. Similar mention is due to workers and wage earners of the City of Edmonton. One cannot single out any class of employees in the city, but every department store, factory, workshop and office numbers the majority of its employees among our regular subscribers. of its employees among our regula

Almost Passed the Mark.

Sturgeon, Whitford and Vegreville have almost passed the mark and will no doubt raise considerably more than was asked of them. I would like to mention Pembina and Lac Ste Anne, These ridings are doing well this year and will in all probability raise the allotted amount in time. Although little has been received from Camrose, Sedgewick and Wainwright, I have information that these ridings will be in the honor list by the time the books close on August 31st. I understand Camrose has more than the allotted amount in the bank, while Sedgewick has made provision by means of the Patriotic Tax Act, and I am assured the quota from that riding will be in hand in time. I think we may put Lacombe and Victoria in the same cass. There remains a few ridings that have done only fair so far as present prospects can be used as a crieton, and a few more from which

On the motion of Hon. Charles Stewart it was decided to appoint a field officer for the collecting work.

H. Stutchbury of the military hospitals commission brought up the question of the wives of the returned invalided men having their patriotic allowance reduced.

On motion of Lieut. Turgeon it was decided that the wives of such returned men should have full patriotic money as long as their husbands were in the service.

The interim report by the secretary of the North Alberta branch, John Blue, is as follows:

British Find Submarine Off Irish Coast With Crew Dead

Galveston, Tex., July 11-A German submarine of the most modern type floating a short distance off the Irish coast, every member of the crew having been suffocated, was recently picked up by a British patrol boat and towed to port, according to the captain of a British steamer, which arrived at a Gulf port yesterday. According to the captain's statement the crew is supposed to have been killed by the sudden formation of a deadly gas while the U-boat was submerged. The hatches were down when the party from a patrol boat boarded the undersea craft.

Social Side of City Life

PERSONALS, MEETINGS, CLUB ACTIVITIES, WEDDINGS AND SOCIAL EVENTS

Citizen's day was a decided success, in every way at the exhibiton. True, there was a heavy storm in the afternoon, which probably kept some people from attending but as it was of short duration and cooled the earth and cleared the air the disagreemble part was soon forgotten. Society was a-holidaying en masse. The whole family made ready and from grandma to baby tramped from the gate to the grand stand through the mid-way and in the main building, admired the art exhibit and enthused over the school and technical work, loved the dogs and laughed over the ducks and chickens. Baloons and squakers were bought for the children all round and paper bags were filled with the most wonderful souvenirs given away at the many booths in the manufacturers' building, pencils, pens, trimbles, fans, cards, pictures, whistles, spoons, work aprons, small mirrors, and packages of many things too numerous to mention. Ice cream cones were bought many times during the day and lemonade, buttermilk, candy, peanuts and popcorn disappeared most mysteriously. At dinner and supper time it was a general scramble to find accommodation, the demand for food at these hours was almost more than the supply, and with keen appetites, created by the distance travelled from one place to the other and made all the keener by the smell of fried chicken, steak and ham and eags wafted on the air, satisfaction in this quarter seemed to the hungry one almost hopeless. Eventually a dining tent was found which yielded all that was desired by the inner man or woman and it was either the roller coaster or to the Mid-way with its alluring attractions that the group large or small found next in favor. Some of the things in the mid-way were too funny for words and just to walk slowly around and listen to the "barkers" in front of each attractions was in itself an entertainment well worth the admission fee. The merry-go-round which never loses popularity with the young (or old for that matter) was filled all the time; other places of like nature had a stream of p

Dear Madam—Macaroni, noodles, rice and other cereals furnish much nutriment at very little cost; oatmeal variety, are more expensive than the

One-Piece Bathing Suit—Other Queries
To the Editor of the Woman's Page:
Dear Madam—(1) Is it good taste for a girl to wear an Annette Kellermann bathing suit in a pool when all the swimmers are girls or women?
(2) Which would be better to wear with a street suit of blue—black Oxford ties or black pumps or brown?
(3) When a man invites a girl to the theatre may she ask him where the seats are to be so as to know how to dress, or would a suit with dressy waist and white gloves be all right anywhere in the house?
(4) Do young girls woar white kid gloves to a tea?
(5) Can one go to summer dances without gloves, even to carry them?
(6) Are the light sports suits appropriate to wear shopping?

(1) If a girl really wants to learn to swim she can do so much more readily if not hampered with ekirts, stockings, etc. The one-piece bathing suits are quite de riguer in a pool reserved for women. (2) Purely a matter of choice. (3) A suit with a dreasy waist and white gloves can be worn in any part of the theatre. It would be safer to wear these than to wear evening clothes unless you were quite sure of the man, too, appearing in full dress, and you can hardly ask him where the seats are. (4) (5) (6) Yes.

St. Margaret

Catholies throughout the world wil celebrate the day of St. Margaret on Friday, July 20. St. Margaret is said to have suffered at Antioch in the last general persecution. She was instructed in the Christian faith by her nurse. Her own father, a pagan priest, was among her persecutors. She finally died by the sword. Her faith was eulogized especially during the eleventh century throughout England, France and Germany, and during the holy wars of the middle ages. St. Margaret lies buried at Monte Fiascone in Tuscany.

What the Advance Man Says

OLD SONGS BEST, SAYS EX-MEMBER OF FAMOUS QUARTETTE

Any person who wants to say something unpleasant to Frank Morrell, the famous tenor singer who is at the Pantages theatre this week, can quickly and easily get into his bad books by murmuring something disparaging about the songs of a decade to a quarter century ago. Morrell belives implicitly in the songs that our fathers and grand-fathers bought for so much per book, not the "Jasas" music of today that costs so much per sheet and is marked down to a nickel in the five and ten cent stores.

Take for instance "Just-Before the Battle Mother," which Morrell revives this week at Pantages. That veteran is almost old enough to vote. It was written during the Spanish-American war of 1898 to symbolize the feeling of a boy toward his mother before he goes into a battle from which he may never geturn. Morrell is not ordinarily the class of performers who sings patriotic songs because flag-waving is fashionable in vaudeville during a great war, but he revived this battle song for the symplicity of it and the fact that it was once fresh and on everybody's lips. Every now and then he picks out some hit of bygone days and sings it just for the sake of old times. "Hello, Central, Give Me Heaven," and "My Wild Irish Rose," to say nothing of "Only a Bird in a Gilded Cage," attracts his attention occasionally. Another old favorite he like to drag out of the mothballs and camphor at odd times is "On the Banks of the Wabash," and he never falls to win applause with this seng hit of a scorr of years ago.

"They seldom write good ballads any more," says the forem member of Americas to Aske now. They want 'Jass' because to take now. They want 'Jass' because to the now the last to he wrote 'Heilo, Central Harris' song if put it in the church hymn books and sell twith 190 other songs at fifty cents a book. MONARCH—Scenes of such powerful intensity as to force one to wonder how a cameraman is allowed anywhere near the scene of a bombardment are presented on the screen at the Monarch theatre this week in "Smashing the Hindenburg Line", raising war pictures. WITH JUNE CAPRICE

Bewitching little June Caprice is more charming than ever in the "neglected sister" role which she plays in "A Modern Cinderella," a new and refreshing photopially which is at the Empres theatre today, Friday and Saturday. The rediant Empress star, whose smile is now known in every home, exts her latest part with a delightful naturainess, and is ably supported by Frank Morgan, "A Modern Cinderella," incidentally is Mr. Morgan's first film to be shown at this theatre. He does splendidly, though, and will win many friends in Edmonton. The rest of, the case is made up of Betty Pendergast Stanhope Wheatcroft, Grace Sievens and Jom Brooke. John G. Adolft directed the picture and it was for this screen play that the Caprice company was sant to Fforda on new scenic locations. It was "A Modern Cinderella" also, for which 78.000 persons acted in fifty feet of film. They received no pay for their fine display of histinoit talent, but they themselves paid to appear in the same film with the incomparable Miss Caprice. The scene in question was taken at the Yele-Harvard game in the big bowl at New Haven. It is incorporated as a fade-in to show the picture, of a hard-fought football battle which June visualizes as she gazes at the photograph of her hero Iom (Frank Morgan) in the togs of his team. Miss Caprice has the role of Joyce, a younger daughter, who is humbled and pushed into the background that her sister, Polly, may shine. With her sense of deeper love, Joyce cannot understand Polly's heartless flirtations, and falls in love with Tom, her

HIS is the caution applied to the public announcement of Castoria that has been manufactured under the supervision of Chas. H. Fletcher for over 30 years—the genuine Castoria. We respectfully call the attention of fathers and mothers when purchasing Castoria to see that the wrapper bears his signature in black. When the wrapper is removed the same signature appears on both sides of the bottle in red. Parents who have used Castoria for their little ones in the past years need no warning against counterfeits and imitations, but our present duty is to call the attention of the younger generation to the great danger of introducing into their families spurious medicines.

It is to be regretted that there are people who are now engaged in the nearlous business of putting up and selling all sorts of substitutes, or what should more properly be termed counterfeits, for medicinal preparations not only for adults, but worse yet, for children's medicines. It therefore devolves on the mother to scrutinize closely what she gives her child. Adults can do that for themselves, but the child has to rely on the mother's watchfulness.

Genuine Castoria always hears the signature of Castor

The general impression seems be that the fair is of the kind to induce visitors to come again.

Parliament need not exhaust its ingenuity trying to discover classes of citizens who should be exempt from conscription. The bill makes the local tribunal the dictator as to who shall be exempt and who shall be conscripted. There is no danger but that in those parts of the country where conscription is needed the exemptions will be quite numerous enough to satisfy the most generous minded finder of excuses. What parliament ought to concern itself about is to see that the local itself about is to see that the local tribunals in the slacker districts do not exempt everybody.

> It has been often said, and with reason, that the Spanish war did more to obliterate the Mason-Dixon line of cleavage in the sentiment of our American neighbors than any other event or influence has done. The sons of the men who fought cach other in the slave war fought side by side in the Philippines and in Cuba. In doing so they not only came to know each other in the place where worth alone counts; they created a new set of national traditions in which the people of the North and the South were partial the old antagonisms which divided them. President Wilson is the first "southern" President since the slave war, and in neither of his elections was he opposed in the north on the ground that he was of southern birth. Twenty-five years ago the people of the United States were still Northern remembers and Southerners; today they are Americans. And they will be still more pronouncedly Americans, and still less Northerners and Southerners; today they are Americans. And they said be still more pronouncedly they are Americans. The steady aim of our leaders should have been to induce such common effort and sacrifice in the common cause as would make this war the beginning of a new era in the relations between the British and French races in Canada. And it was posat the fair grounds is drawing sible. The opportunity lay straight before us. It was writ-ten in the history of every country whose people have been ce mented by the bonds of suffering and sacrifice endured for its defence. people who have stood together in a bloody war will stand together in peace.

Certainly if ever the Government of a country had the opportunity to turn this unifying influence of sacrifice to good account it was the Government of Canada in relation to this war. If the world had been searched an enemy could not have been found against whom it should have been so easy to arouse the fighting spirit of both British and French-Canadians. Germany—which crushed France forty years ago—sought to crush both France and England, and to make Canada a part of the booty of its bloody adventure. The case has only to be stated to disclose its power of appeal to both the great elements in our population. If Canadians could not be united against such an enemy, how or for what could they ever be united? How has that opportunity been realized? Has the appeal been made as it could have been made, equally to both sections of our people? Has it been backed up PLAN INCREASE equally to both sections of our people! Has it been backed up that persistent earnestness which alone brought the gravity of the situation home to the people even of Great Britain? Are we to emerge from this war Canadianism, or with the old line of cleavage as sharply drawn as before — perhaps more sharply drawn? Has the enemy driven us together or driven us apart? Do we regard each other as equal sharers in the great effort and sacrifice? From Hansard report of speech by Mr. Levi Thomson, Liberal M.P. for Qu'Appelle, Saskatchewan, delivered on July 4th, 1917:

It is necessary at all times that there should be public confidence in the actions of the Government, and in the history of Canada there has been no line when that has been more necessary than the present, although it seems to me that our hon friends opposite have failed to recognize the fact. We are told that we are raising as much of the wealth of the country as is needed to be raised from the wealthy classes for the purposes of the war. I do not believe that; I take issue with that statement immediately. We should have paid very much more than we have done of the war, expenditures of the year from direct taxation which should be imposed upon the wealthy men of the country, and we should take less from the poor man through our outrageously high customs tariff. Further than that, we require to raise much more money each year to deal monestly with our men at the front. We are paying them $1.10 a day, whereas unskilled laborers receive much more than that for perfectly safe work. A farm laborer in my locality can earn from 150e to $60e a year; he must get in addition three square meals a day, regularly served, and he must have comfortated accommodation and bed or he will not stay. cause I believe it is the proper way in which to face the position in which we are placed.

It seems to me that the voluntary plan is wasteful at the present stage, and has been wasteful for the past eighteen months; it should have been changed at that time. Though I have come to this conclusion I do not propose to criticise those who think differently. Each has to think this matter out for himself, and yote as he believes to be right. I believe that conscription was more needed a year ago than it is now, and that it would have been much more effective if it had been put in force then, but I would not have voted for it a year ago as I was not in favor of it then.

The Government, if they are honest, were opposed to conscription a few weeks ago. The Government are turncoats on this question, and so am I, but I do not propose to criticise those who do not turn their coats at the same moment as myself; I think it would be very bad taste.

cious spirit and gallantry of the British and Indian troops, brilliantly seconded by the navy.

The Mesopotamian commission's recent disclosures attracted attention to and created special interest in General Maude's references to the present water transport and hospital arrangements. He states that the newly-formed inland water transport directorate is so well organized that "An eight-day endless chain of river craft passed up and down the river, thereby assuring the maintenance of troops at the front."

Sir Stanley Maude further says:
"Our well equipped hospitals were more than adequate to meet all calls, and throughout the evacuation of wounded was carried out on model lines. Arrangements for the comfort and rapid transfer of patients from the field units to the hospitals reflect much credit on those concerned."

General Maude thankfully acknowledges the prompt response made to his demands from England, India, and ledges the prompt response made to his demands from England, India, and Egypt.

Rain Mars Harness Races But Running Events All Pulled Off; Idle Direct Pays 61.20 for Ticket New York

Only Three Harness Races Were Run But Entire Program Of Running Events Took Place—Races Left Over From Yesterday Will Be Held Today—Big Field Of Entries And Ten Events For This Afternoon.

An hour thunder storm, accompagined by a deluge of rain, yesterday afternoon marred what promised to be one of the best day's racing at the fair. The ominous clouds began to appear just as the racing was started, and before the harness heats were over there was a blinding rainstorm, accompanied by heavy thunder and lightning. The grandstands were packed and all took the best shelter that was available while the storm lasted. The third heat was trotted amid mud and rain, and then it was decided to call off the harness events till half-past one today. All the running races took place according to schedule during the afternoon.

The weather and track conditions upset all the dope of the "wise ones" in the betting ring and long shots had a good chance. The big clean-up was in the second heat of the 2:25 pace or 2:20 trot. Calgary Earl had won the first heat handly and was heavily backed in the second. Then the storm broke, and the best the Calgary horse could do was fifth, while an outsider. Idle Direct, backed by four long shotters for a win, carried off the paying honors, paying his four supporters the tidy sum of $61.20 each on straight tickets. The only other big pay of the day was the six furlongs, when Satala took the Sporting Life out of Prairie Money and paid $19.10 on straight tickets. In the 2:15 pace or 2:10 trot, Midred Direct was a strong favorite, but only managed to land in fifth place, with Dr. McLaughlin first and Dean Swift second. A number of tickets were sold for the second heat, with Dean Swift carrying the big end of the money, but when this event was postponed the money was returned.

There was nothing to the six furlongs, selling, for 3-year-olds and upwards, but Volma, who had the race well in hand from start to finish, The money on the pari-mutuels. Bonnie's Buek gave somewhat of å surprise by taking second place.

The one mile handleap for Alberta breds went to Chokio, the magnificent 3-year-old owned by Franklin and Randall, with Farewell, the Lethbridge entry, second and Sharpshooter, whom many looked to win, in third position. The Sporle bred horse was unsuitably shod for the mudrack, it was explained.

In this race Jerry Geo, a Loydminster entry, was on his poor behavior, and after geiting away to a bad start threw his rider at the first turn. There was no damage.

Prairie and Sporting Life carried the money in the six furlongs for 3-year-olds and upwards, but Satala, with some small backing, nosed out Sporting Life in a rattling finish.

SAWYER WON WORLD RECORD GOLF MATCH

CHICAGO, Ill., July 11.—A world's record extra hole match was staged today in the second match round of the Western Amateur Golf championship at Midlothian, Ned Sawyer of Boberlink club, Chicago, defeating Robert Markwell, Yale University star, on the 32nd hole, after having been five down at the 27th hole. It took par golf for the veteran Sawyer, western champion in 1966, to overtake his younger opponent, who was dormie three after 33 holes of splendid golf, but the strain finally told on the young collegian.

The other seven matches were not close, and three were one-sided. Francis Ouimet, of Boston, defeated J. T. Henry, of Chicago, 4 and 2.

BULGE IN CORN MARKET ADDS · NEW RECORD

Early Set Back Wiped Out By Active Bidding For Cash By Later Buying By Cash Exporters And Good Eastern Later Buying By Cash Houses.

Chicago, July 11.—Nervousness over checks on trading in corn at St. Louis and Kansas City had a bearish effect to day on corn prices here. At both cities a maximum quotation was fixed for the September delivery and all new business in that option was forbidden. A further cause for depression of values here was the fact that rains had fallen in Texas and Oklahoma, where there had been complaints of drought.

Opening figures, which ranged from 11c off to 187% and December at 130 to 121, were followed by a material setback all around.

Wheat eased off a little in sympathy with corn. Besides prospects were said to have impayed both for the spring and winter crop. After opening unchanged at 2034 July and 191 September, the market receded to 190 for September.

Despite some firmness at the outset, cats underwent a sharp fall when cerb was seen to be plainly o, the dewngrade. Commission houses in general turned to the selling side.

Provisions descended as a result of corn weakness.

An advance in hog prices seemed to be entirely ignored.

Uncle Wiggily and the Needles.

Copyright, 1917, by McClure News-paper Syndicate.

"I am sorry to trouble you, Unchingily." said Nurse Jane Fuzz; "I am sorry to trouble you, Uncle Wiggily," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady, one morning, as she went to where the bunny rabbit gentleman was sitting on the porch of his hollow stump bungwlow, "but I would like—"

"No trouble at all, I do assure you," and Uncle Wiggily quickly. "I'll do anything you ask."

"Better wait and hear what I am going to ask," said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, as she tied her tail in a double bow knot so she would not step on it while she was washing the dishes. "I fear you will not want to do me this favor" laughed the bunny.

"Well, then, I'd like you to go to the five and six cent store for me and get a paper of needlea," said Nurse Janc. "I must mend some of your socks and I can't do it without a needle. Now are you sorry you promised before you knew what I was going to ask?"

Uncle Wiggily made a funny face and wrinkled up his pink, twinkling nose so that it looked like a squeezed rubber ball playing jack straws.

"Never mind whether I like it or rot," he said, "I'll go there for you, Nurse Jane," and then, brave rabbit gentleman that he was, off started Uncle Wiggily for the five and six cent store to get the needles for Nurse Jane. She could not go herself as she had the bungalow work to do.

"But if there is one thing worse than another that I do not like to do, it is to go to the five and six cent store.

"Oh, my, goodness me, sakes alive, and some horse raddish ice cream! I've lost the paper of needles!" He looked in all his pockets, and even in his tall silk hat, but it was of no use—the needles were gone!

great tragedy occurred on March 15, 44 B.C., when the great man was in his fifty-sixth year.

Orangemen's Day
July twelfth is Orangemen's Day, the great festival of the Irish Protestants. Whether or not much celebration will take place in honor of the day it is hard to say, because of conditions in Europe. Orangemen in America are celebrating the day as much as ever before. Formerly this day was a bad one indeed to wear green in Ulster. While the order is strong in Canada and has lodges in most of the large cities of the United States, it is in Ulster that the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne is celebrated with most enthusiasm. Orangemen take their name from William III of Orange, who defeated James II in the Battle of the Boyne in 1690. The first lodge of Orangemen was formed at Armagh in 1795. Orangemen's Day

Sir William Osler

About ten years ago if you happened to be talking to a man forty years old or a little bit over that age and mentioned the name of Dr. Osler, you were liable to get into difficulties. For it was Dr. Osler, new Sir William Osler, who was supposed at that time to have said that a man over forty years of age ought to retire and be chloroformed. Of course, he didn't say anything of the kind, but that is the way his remarks were construed. Anyway, Sir William Osler is today sixty-sight years old, having been, born on July 12, 1849, at Tecumseh, Ont. So you see, if he had preached such a doctrine one might be able to accuse him of not practicing what he preached. It would be useless to try to tell in less space than a few volumes of Dr. Osler's accomplishments in the field of medicine. He has studied and taught and practiced at the leading medical institutions in the world. He has university degrees by the dozens. The King of England gave recognition to Dr. Osler's achievements in 1911 by conferring upon him a baronetcy. Sir William Osler is married to an American woman, who was Miss Grace L. Gross, of Philadelphia. He has written a number of books on medical subjects, all of which are considered authoritative. Sir William Osler has been living in Oxford, England, for the past few years.

So back he hopped to the pine tree, but the paper of needles was not to be found. Perhaps a tailor bird gleked them up to use in sewing her nest.

"Oh, this is too bad!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "It is quite too bad!"

"What is?" asked a voice, and it was the pine tree speaking.

"I hage lost Nurse Jane's paper of needles," said the bunny uncle. "I had them here when I was helping poor butterfly, and now they're gone. I just can't bear to go back to the five and six cent store with the giggling mousle girl clerks and yet—"

"There is no need to." said the pine tree. "I have more needles than I can ever use. Take as many as you like. I aw how kind you were to the butterfly, who was caught in my sticky gum, though it was not my fault. Now I will do a kindness to you."

Then the pine ree shook down a lot of pine needles, and when Uncle Wiggily took them home Nurse Jane said they were the best she ever had. So the bunny did not have to go back to the store to be giggled at.
